MUSICAL EVENING IN THE MEMORIAL HALL – ARRANGED BY PAUL JAGGERS

Saturday July 3rd 7.30 pm for 8.00 pm starring Gypfunk, with supporting artist Bronte Sandison, to benefit Syrian Child Refugees and also Santa's Sleigh visits to Ilfracombe, Woolacombe, Combe Martin, West Down, Lee & Lincombe.

Tickets £15.00 from Paul Jagers (01271 862975), payment with booking, please. In the event the evening is postponed due to government instruction all ticket monies will be returned. Bring your own refreshments.

Gypfunk (pictured) write that they are a curious quartet with a French flavour who bring you a cracking show of accordion-driven grooves with a drizzle of balkanesque cool and a whiff of bohemian funk.

Bronte Sandison, at just 12 years old, is an extraordinary vocalist and ukulele player. Accompanied by her music teacher, Joe Steer, she will treat us to some acoustic versions of an eclectic range of songs, from Billy Eillish to Queen!

GREETINGS AND FAREWELLS

In the previous edition of the News, we wrote about changes to residents or owners of five properties in the village – Cliffe, Tea Shop Cottage, Lincombe Farm, Greenacres and Lincombe House Flat. Things have been quieter recently and we report on only three changes. However, as we often say, if we have missed anyone out, please let us know and we shall be very pleased to make amends next time.

Kevin and Lesley Mulcahy have moved from the Hollies to the Blackpool area. Although sorry to see them leave, it is good to welcome three generations of one family to the main house and the annexe. Josh Easton and Chrissie Ellerton have moved from the New Forest area to the main house with their children, Henry (10) and Rufus (2). Chrissie's parents, Paul and Jill Ellerton, have moved to the Hollies' annexe. The whole family is already enjoying living here with splendid walks for the dogs a particular delight.

Trevor Huggins and Kathryn Hone moved to the area from London after visiting Ilfracombe, where they have family, and Lee for many years, and they intend to make it their home. They spent a couple of months in Sun Penny Cottage when they first arrived in March and commented that they were made to feel very welcome by the Lee community. Currently they are renting a house in Ilfracombe until, as they say, the right property comes up!

After many years at North Warcombe Farm, we are also sorry that John and Wendy Hunt have moved away from the area. However, we are pleased to welcome Andrew and Lis Harvey-Bryant, They have moved from Marwood although they have lived in Devon all their lives, having been born in Ilfracombe. They have two grown up sons and are very much looking forward to being part of the community in Lee.

Sadly, we say a final farewell to Andrew Ailes of Myrtle Cottage, a regular contributor to the News. An obituary from his family and a final poignant poem by Andrew about his own passing are found at the end of this edition.

As always, if we've forgotten anyone, please let us know for the next edition.

NEWS FROM ST. MATTHEW'S CHURCH

The closure of the church throughout the winter until the end of March was very sad but the reasons for the closure were, of course, much sadder. Throughout the closure, Giles, Vicar of Lee, Mortehoe and Woolacombe, produced online services each week which were much appreciated by those who accessed them on Zoom. However, it was a great joy to be able to hold Sunday services again from Easter Sunday, 4th April, even though things were not back to normal.

The two biggest ways where things were not normal were the need to maintain social distancing (and the wearing of masks) and being unable to sing. The limitation on numbers attending was a real challenge on Easter Sunday when normally the church would be nearly full and we would have a choir in the gallery. We had to ask our regular congregation and, through the Fuchsia List, the village as a whole if they would like to come to the service. Fortunately, the number of people who wanted to come was exactly the same as the maximum capacity of the church! So everyone was able to attend. Of course, hymn singing inside the church was not allowed, but, at the end of the service, we all went outside and assembled between the war memorial and the area in front of the old schoolroom and sang lustily the fine hymn 'Thine be the glory'. The attempted synchronisation between organ and singers didn't work, but the singing was excellent!

Since Easter, the regular Sunday service at 8.45 am has taken place with encouraging numbers attending. Singing is still not possible but the organ is being played before the service, during part of the communion and after the service. We held a special all-age service on Rogation Sunday, 9th May. Traditionally, the church celebrates the rural and agricultural year on Plough Sunday in January, Rogation Sunday in April or May and Harvest Festival in September or October. On Rogation Sunday – asking for good crops – the custom was to go around the parish 'beating the bounds' to mark the edge of the parish. We couldn't manage to do that, but Isla and Rebecca Cameron gave an excellent presentation of what Rogation Sunday was about, including a realistic beating of parts of the church with their wooden sticks, a job that children used to undertake at the edges of the parish. As we were still unable to sing inside, as on Easter Sunday, we went outside at the end of the service to celebrate the countryside and sing the hymn 'All things bright and beautiful.'

As we move into summer, the regular Sunday service continues and everyone is, of course, welcome. The church is open to visitors whenever Louise is open in the old schoolroom craft gallery, and we are most grateful to her for opening and closing the church.

LEE MEMORIAL HALL UPDATE

With the lockdown continuing, there were no hall bookings from February to March.

It was a good opportunity to carry out a number of maintenance jobs and more recently the Community volunteers re-commenced their care of the meadow.

The hall trustees met via Zoom again, to bring everyone up to date with the current regulations and to discuss what to do when we finally ease out of lockdown.

On the 6th May, the hall became the polling station once again and it was the first chance most villagers had to see the new floor, although they probably had other things on their minds at the time!

Mini Monsters were the first to meet on 17th May. They had good weather and a good turnout for their get-together in the meadow.

Chelsea Wills began her Tuesday yoga classes in the hall, the following evening. Still restricted to small numbers, she is running two classes to enable more people to join in.

In June the W.I. and the hall trustees will both hold their first, almost normal meetings for a long time. The Watercolour workshop is hoping to resume in July.

Paul Jagers is hoping to host another of his very popular musical evenings in July, providing the lockdown rules are finally eased. It should prove very popular.

In July we will have a wedding reception in the hall again. It was postponed, like so many, and we hope they will finally have the day they have planned for so long.

With the uncertainty around any public events the Spring Fair, Flower Show and the Arts and Crafts Fair will not be happening again this year. Hopefully 2022 will see them all take place!

The bookings are now beginning to pick up. We are beginning to get some smaller, private reservations, including a few private bookings for family parties during the summer and would be happy to take more. There are also three more weddings booked for later in the year.

There will be some jobs to do when we don't need to worry so much about Covid, such as putting up the curtains and pictures and bringing all the chairs back in the hall. We would like to get some social events for the villagers organised and we might be able to finally hold our AGM.

We have been lucky to occasionally receive government grants during the lockdown which have given us some financial security during these times. Our 100 club still continues to help with outgoings and also to cheer those who might have a win if their number comes up!

We are always happy to welcome new subscribers. Please contact our treasurer, Edna, via the contact details below.

LEE BAY HOTEL UPDATE

Since the last edition of the News, Acorn Blue, the hotel site developers, did put in a new planning application for the hotel site as promised. The application is number 72859 and all the details can be found under this reference on the North Devon Planning Portal. In summary, the application is very close to what had been presented to Ilfracombe Town Council and the Lee and Lincombe Residents' Association (LLRA) at a zoom meeting in July 2020.

The new application went live in April 2021 and is currently being considered by North Devon Council Planning Officers. The application was presented to Ilfracombe Town Council at a Zoom meeting on 12th April and this was attended by developers, town councillors and some residents, owners and their representatives. There was the opportunity to ask questions of the developers and highlight some outstanding concerns.

The Ilfracombe Town Council (ITC) Planning Committee voted to support the application subject to conditions which included verification of the sewage treatment system, resolution of knotweed issues and a contribution from the developers towards the upkeep of Lee public toilets. On the plans the current toilet site is shown within the hotel boundary and, at one stage, it looked like these toilets could have been lost when the development progressed. Although the new plans show toilets inside the cafe on their own these facilities would not have been as good as what we currently have owing to only being available during cafe opening hours.

Fortunately, in the village, we have squirrels who have over the years held on to various documents relating to the village to which they have had access. In April the deeds to the current toilet site as well as all the covenants and other relevant documents were retrieved by our squirrels and these showed that the toilet site was bought from the then hotel owners by the Council for £350 back in the early 1960's. The public toilets are therefore to remain in Council ownership as a vital amenity for the village and its visitors.

Cllr Pat Coates

ILFRACOMBE TOWN COUNCIL UPDATE

In early May we had elections and Mark Fay was elected as a Town Councillor for our ward, West Ward, to replace Steve Trebble who resigned in 2020. In the County Council elections, Paul Crabb was re-elected as Ilfracombe's County Councillor.

Following the end of the temporary legislation that allowed remote council meetings during the pandemic, we had our first face to face meeting on 17th May at The Lantern because the Council building was not able to meet COVID safety requirements for large numbers.

The first meeting was a planning meeting and it only had a few applications on the agenda and no members of the public came to it although they had the opportunity. It was a good preparation for the larger meetings that will be taking place from June.

We now have a new mayor and deputy mayor for Ilfracombe for 2021. Councillor Kit Leck was elected to role of Mayor and Dan Turton as Deputy Mayor. Kit had previously been Deputy Mayor and these changes should have taken place in 2020 but were put on hold owing to the pandemic.

PLANTING LAND ABOVE YOMER WOODS AND OPPOSITE LINCOMBE

There is considerable interest in the village at the 'Planting Land' that is being sold by the Woodland Trust in the fields above Yomer Woods and opposite Lincombe and whose access is a new track off the lane leading to Lower Campscott. The land has been divided into 8 units of varying sizes. One has been bought by Phil Johncock who lives in the village and is well known to many of us and another has been bought by Craig and Debs Erskine who live in Bristol. I thought it would be informative and interesting to read more about the scheme and they have kindly agreed to write about the scheme as a whole and their particular interests and plans for their land. - Ian Stuart

A message from Phil Johncock

Those who know me well will know that I, with the help of Billy (from the Grampus), have managed my family's woodland in Kent for the last 5 winters. It has been a true passion of mine, planting a hedgerow, removing the invasive Rhododendron ponticum and building facilities to aid the management using natural materials from the land. During this time I have longed for the chance to do something similar closer to my home in Lee. After years of being on the lookout and occasionally just missing out, I feel so incredibly lucky to have found what is now known as Coombe Meadow. I never expected to find something so close to home!

Together with my partner Chelsea, we want to plant and maintain a future woodland for the benefit of the environment as well as for our family and friends to enjoy. We're looking to establish a diverse range of native trees and shrubs, including rare local varieties such as the Devon Whitebeam (Sorbus devoniensis), its fruit, known as Otmast or Sorb Apples, a bygone produce at local markets.

We will be including an area of sweet chestnut coppice as a means of sustainable production of durable wood for my environmentally-friendly (and small scale) woodwork.

We are working closely with our neighbouring land owners (Craig and Debs Erskine) to create a feel of a larger continuous woodland, rather than two separate ones. We all hope to do the planting this year!

There have understandably been concerns about the large numbers of campers on the plots over the May bank holidays. Of course, this was the first chance for many people to come and get a feel for their new land.

Thankfully, because of the covenant we have all had to sign, there is no risk of the land being used as commercial campsites. On the contrary, it has attracted many unique individuals. Having met some of them we now look forward to bee keepers, more woodland and we're excited to already see new organic veg available for the village from Amary Farm.

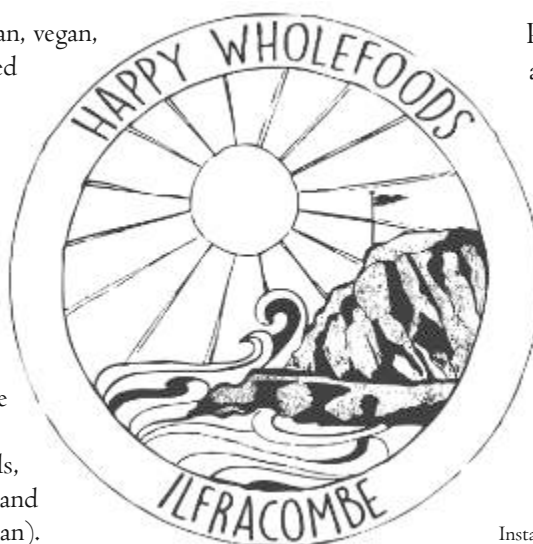

We look forward to using this land as an opportunity to work more closely with and give back to our Lee and Lincombe community as well as to invest our time and effort into something positive for the environment.

PLANTING LAND ABOVE YOMER WOODS AND OPPOSITE LINCOMBE, CONTD.

Field to a forever Forest: A message from Craig and Debs Erskine

Similarly to Phil, we have been looking for a small woodland to manage and protect for environmental and wildlife benefits for many years. More recently we have also been looking for planting land to create a woodland and assist in our own small way with reducing the effects of climate change.

When this opportunity came around we were very pleased to have been in the right place at the right time and were successful with our offer.

Our plan is to plant mainly indigenous broad leaf species across the site, linking and complementing the planting planned by Phil and Chelsea. We are also looking to include an orchard area within which we hope to include some medicinal trees and plants. We intend to retain some areas of meadow in the form of rides and glades to save an element of the grassland habitat and maintain the beautiful views.

On Wednesday 2nd June we all met with a representative of the Woodland Trust who has recently approved our applications under their MOREwoods scheme. He gave us some valuable advice and will assist further in helping produce planting plans and will hopefully arrange for the supply of trees and protection so that planting will be possible this Autumn.

In the interim we are looking to do some maintenance within the existing woodland including refurbishment of the well which will hopefully be able to supply water to help in the early years of the saplings' survival.

As residents will know, the original grazing land area was purchased last year by Woodlands.co.uk who have subdivided it into a number of parcels sold to different owners. We have met some of the new owners who, as you might expect, are a diverse group from various parts of the country but all seem to have similar goals as ours and will no doubt be developing their own ideas to fit with their own interests and skills.

We have been made to feel very welcome by all the residents we have had the privilege to meet so far for which we are extremely grateful. We hope to repay the welcome by contributing to the village community and environment.

RESTORATION OF THE LINHAY, LEE

After having had holes in its roof for over a hundred years, the Linhay, just after Meadowside, has now been restored. Ged had started the restoration of the Linhay and had planted the orchard before his diagnosis in late February and death on 12th April 2020. He was very keen that I continued with these projects.

In last year's obituary for Ged I mentioned I would continue with his wish to restore the Linhay. This has been done and the Linhay is ready for when it has apples from Ged's orchard.

Ged hadn't asked for a sign for Linhay but I had one made that will be seen by family and friends. He did ask for a sign for 'Ged's Orchard' at the gate from the garden to the orchard. This has also been done and was in place in advance of the first anniversary of Ged's death on 12th April 2021.

The Linhay will become The Applestore and I look forward to the time I can harvest the various cider apples from the trees.

I would like to thank friends and neighbours for their support with this project and their encouragement during what has been a very challenging year for everyone.

GREETINGS FROM THE GRAMPUS

I'm writing this having had a super busy bank holiday and now prepping for a Gujarati evening where there will be a selection of savoury and sweet treats rustled up by Bill and Shilpa. More of these evenings are on the cards so make sure you get booked in if you fancy trying khadi soup or ringna matar or shaak curry.

Bank holiday saw record numbers of visitors enjoying the sunshine and beer garden whilst tucking in to several ploughman's, sour dough sandwiches and amazing sweet treats made by the fabulous Kristy!

We continue to help out the local community by offering orders of groceries and on rainy nights a substantial take out menu to make the damp evenings a little bit brighter.

We are thoroughly looking forward to a busy summer and welcoming back familiar faces to work and dine as well as new folks.

I'm sure everyone will take pleasure in watching our very tame robins and basking in the garden surrounded by the amazing flora the sunshine has brought.

All of us at the Grampus wish you a very happy and healthy summer.

THE OLD SCHOOLROOM CRAFT GALLERY - 50 YEARS ON

The schoolroom has an interesting history starting life as the village school. The foundation stone for the building was laid by Miss Catherine Bowden of Burrow Lodge, Ilfracombe, on June 21st 1859. The builder was Mr Robert Scamp, of Ilfracombe, and the architect was Mr Haywood of Exeter.

The school was opened on Easter Tuesday, 1860 at 3pm and the cost of building the school was £264.13.6d. The salary for the school mistress was £20 and a house. In 1878 30 children attended, by 1890 the number had grown to 45 and in 1906 the average attendance was 43.

Through the 1920s and 1930s the number of children attending the school diminished. In 1938 there were just 7 in the charge of Miss Reid. They were affectionately known as Snow White and the seven dwarves. In 1939 it was decided to close the school. The Second World War brought evacuees from Croydon and Bristol and the building was taken over as a council school until 17th October 1942.

Through the 1950s and 1960s the school was rarely used until 1971 when a craft shop was opened. The building has been used as a retail space ever since and is now in its 50th year!

Over the years, various people have rented the space, including Ann Hamilton, Lionel Hill, Keith Brown, Adrienne Howard, Carol Porton, Fran Larcombe and now myself, Louise Thompson.

Carol had the shop from 2002, and kindly wrote the following about her time running it.

"I took on the shop at the end of 2002 and, after refurbishing and restocking, I opened for my first season in March 2003. With the Lee Bay Hotel and the Fuchsia Tea Rooms open, there was always a friendly visitor to chat to and offer information about the history of Lee and Lincombe.

The hotel was a destination for Shearings coach holidays. The visitors would be taken out on day trips. On their return the coach would stop outside and sometimes 30 or more people would squeeze into the shop!

With the Lee Spring Fair, the Arts and Crafts fortnight and the Flower Show, it was always a bustling time but sadly, after a few years, the hotel and tea rooms closed and trade was dramatically affected. I decided to close at the end of 2007. I thoroughly enjoyed my five years at the Old Schoolroom Craft Shop and met some wonderful people from various parts of the country, some becoming firm friends who I still visit. Many happy memories."

In 2009 I took on the lease as my daughter Daisy was aged 5 and starting school, and I have been running the shop ever since. Daisy is now 17 and helps serve in the shop!

A few things have changed during my time here. There were less establishments in the village selling ice creams and coffees so, due to demand, we now have expanded the takeaway side of the business and put seats and tables outside in the little garden area for the visitors to hopefully enjoy some sunshine!

It is such a lovely privilege to rent from the church such a beautiful building in Lee and support other local artists and crafters by selling their work alongside my own prints, cards and paintings. The last year has been very unusual with the lockdowns and not being able to open when we would like to. Hopefully the problems are all behind us now and we would like to say a big thank you to everyone who supports us!

Louise and Daisy, with thanks to Elizabeth Gilliat and Carol Porton for their help with this article.

Andrew Ailes

Andrew Ailes was born in South West London in 1942. He won a scholarship for the local grammar school and left at 16 to begin a career in journalism that lasted 40 years. At 21 he joined the international television news company, Visnews, and spent most of his working life there. He was a pioneer in satellite transmissions, allowing video footage of international news stories to accompany the actual stories themselves for the first time. Andrew travelled the world and spent short stints living in foreign countries as part of his job. These included Australia and Russia, but his longest posting was to New York, where he lived with his family for three years, from 1980 to 1983.

On the family's return to the UK, Andrew had decided to buy a second-hand Bentley, but this plan was swiftly upended by his wife Angela and they bought Myrtle Cottage instead, in January 1984. So started a love affair with Lee. Myrtle Cottage had been empty for some time before they bought it and it was so cold in the house when they first arrived that they had to sleep in the lounge with an open fire and listen to the mice scurrying overhead. A great lover of nature, Andrew and his family spent hours rock-pooling at the beach and his last homemade bird table still clings on in the Myrtle Cottage garden. His favourite time of year was spring as he enjoyed the flowers and he planted daffodils with gusto.

Andrew loved being in Lee and made many friends here. He was a keen supporter of the Spring Fayre, putting up the marquees with a cigarette in hand and running his 'Bobbin Reel Challenge' game each year.

Andrew loved poetry and will be particularly remembered for the Christmas poems that he wrote each year. He wrote the words to a Christmas Carol which premiered in Lee at St. Matthews Church in December of 2011. This publication has published his poems in the past, sometimes accompanied by drawings from the late artist, Julian Clarke, who lived at The Grange. Andrew's connection with Russia once took him to Kazakhstan where he was given the best apples he had ever tasted. The seeds from one of those apples were planted in Myrtle Cottage producing an apple so good that the same tree is now grown commercially.

Andrew loved Lee dearly and will be missed by all who knew him. He is succeeded by his three sons, Simon, Robin and Gavin.

A FINAL POEM BY ANDREW, A REGULAR CONTRIBUTOR TO THE NEWS

*Roman Generals returning to Rome, covered in glory, used to employ a slave to follow them to remind them that they were only human and must not get too big for their boots.
They said: Memento Mori.*

No Tears Please

Look behind me. There is no slave,
To make sure I don't misbehave.
I did not tread the paths of glory,
You need not cry memento mori.

I never wore the golden wreath,
Nor drew Excalibur from its sheath.
My life is but an unsung story,
You need not cry memento mori.

I never took the winner's stand,
Nor found an undiscovered land;
Nothing much extraordinary.
You need not cry memento mori.

Movers and shakers have their day.
Bankers and dealers have their pay.
So when they go to purgatory,
We need not cry memento mori.

There were painful times I know,
The overdraft that wouldn't go,
But they were only transitory;
You need not cry memento mori.

I had so much I should thank God.
For the primrose path I trod.
And looking back I don't feel sorry,
So do not cry memento mori

So many happy times we had,
The good things far outweighed the bad,
Now everything is hunky dory,
You need not cry memento mori.

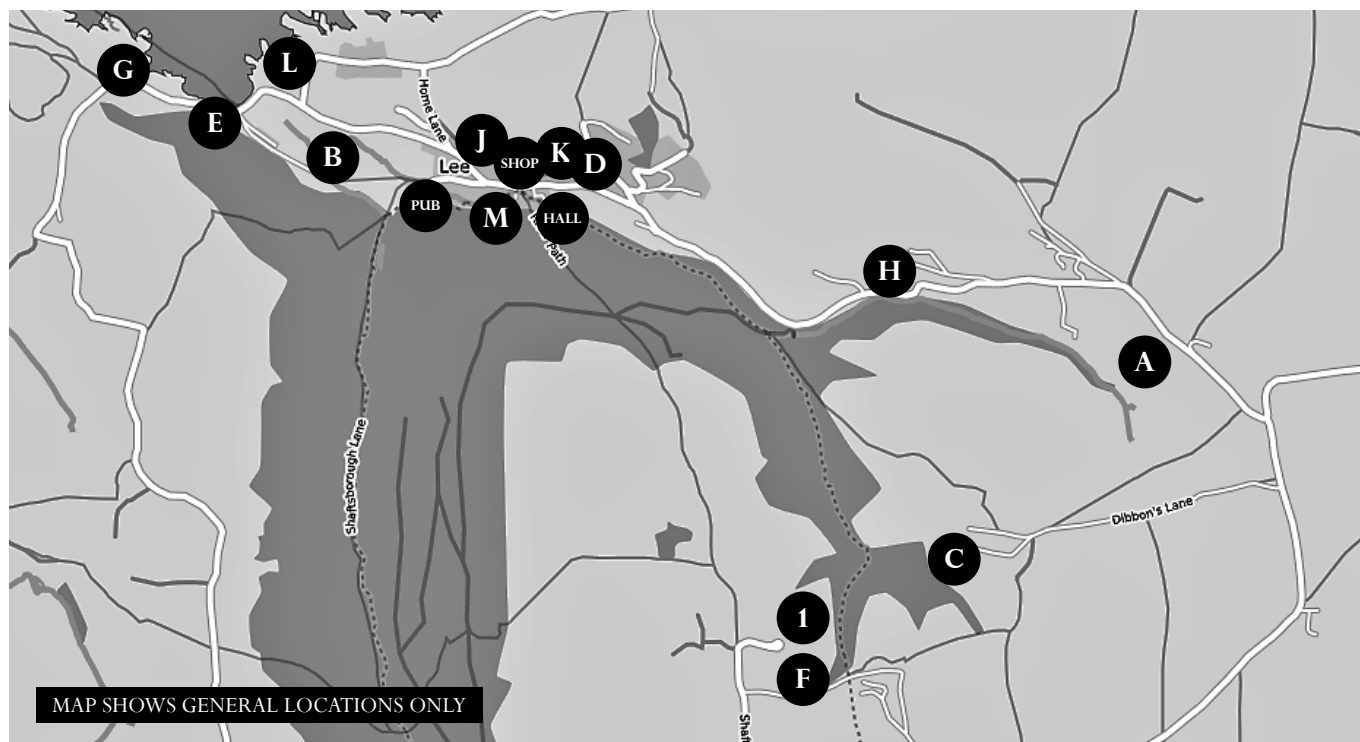

I never thought life passed us by,
When I am gone no need to sigh.
Living was our a priori.
You need not cry memento mori.

I've three great sons to follow me,
Each as straight as the Rowan tree;
Honest, kind, propitiatory,
You need not cry memento mori

I loved my job and loved my wife,
And led the most amazing life,
So when you write my final story,
You need not cry memento mori.
